Location is Chosen.

The Commissioners Court of Dallas county met in called session Friday of last week at the court house in Dalhart and selected as the county farm the eighty acre tract offered for that purpose by R. S. Coon.

The land lies just beyond the Denver Heights addition to the town of Dalhart, and is a beautiful site for a county farm, as it gradually rises to a slight eminence and overlooks the town. It is about fifteen feet above the level of the city.

A deep well will be put down on the farm to a depth of three thousand feet, and this will be the first deep well ever sunk in the Panhandle north of the Canadian river.

Judge C. S. Harrington was authorized by the commissioners to advertise for bids from well drillers, and the advertisements will be placed in the Dallas News, the Oklahoma and Beaumont papers.

It is expected that the contract will be let during the February term of court, and that operations will begin promptly thereafter.

There were a number of offers of land made to the commissioners and one of them made by the North Texas Land Company, of Texline, was attractive enough that it caused a tie vote, Judge Harrington casting the deciding vote in favor of the Coon lands.

And thus another step forward is taken in the development of the North Plains.—Dalhart Texan.

Monthly Report of Riverside School District 17.

Those pupils enrolled this month are: Hattie Moody, Ruth, Rice, Robert and Price Davies, Leola Irwin, Lizzie, Ambrosia, and Effie White, Theodore Green, William and Maggie Ormiston.

Those neither absent nor tardy during this month are Ruth, Rice, and Robert Davies. This week was to be examination week but by delay of the bimonthly questions sent out by Mrs. Todd, we are compelled to take it next week.

On Monday p. m. Jan. 9, the scholars and myself took a vacation and went up to the hills about a mile east of the schoolhouse. We decided to get some clay so went prepared to bring it home, we were gone one hour and fifteen minutes. When we got back to the schoolhouse we took the clay pounded it up fine and mixed it with water and each one of the pupils and myself shaped some object out of it. Some made more than one object, two of the boys shaped a horse and a mule and one boy cut a lock of hair off of his head to make the tail and mane. We let the objects dry and then for safe keeping put them on one shelf of the bookcase. The next day the school all wrote a composition about the trip for their language and grammar lessons.

Sickness has caused quite a few absences this month but we have hopes of doing better in the future.

We are glad to say that we are caught up in all of our studies with the course of study, we were behind in grammar and arithmetic but by diligent working and managing we are where the course says to be and our aim is to stay ahead. AMY BOWLES, Teacher.
